Facilitator

Karen Scott Barss is a spiritual companion and interdisciplinary health educator whose work primarily addresses the spiritual needs of those caring for others. She is a graduate of the Prairie Jubilee Program for Spiritual Direction and holds a Master of Arts in Integrative Studies (Spirituality & Health). While her background has centered most on creative practices, she is passionate about supporting individuals' discernment of the practice(s) most in keeping with their nature, current needs, and sense of calling at a given time.

Attending Skill Deepening Leaders:

Carol Ann Gotch, Paul Campbell & Glen Horst with Shelly Manley-Tannis leading contemplative prayer.

Soul Care

A natural “next step” for those offering Spiritual Direction is this every-other-year opportunity for retreat and learning.

This weekend event will be a refresher in the PJP “container” and a chance to renew, deepen and practice accompaniment skills including opportunities for feedback through a Supervision experience.

This year’s retreat, Care of the Soul for the Soul Who Cares, is facilitated by Karen Scott Barss.

The retreat will offer opportunities for participants to deepen their current contemplative practice(s) and explore a variety of new practices to support their own well-being and that of those they serve. Practices will be determined by participants’ needs and interests, drawing upon, but not limited to those featured at the Contemplative Practices Tree.

The retreat will also integrate insights from the Enneagram to help discern what practices might best resonate with one’s present way of being in the world. .
